PREFACE

The object of "Life Songs" is to present to the Denomination whose General Conference has authorized this volume the songs which it is hoped will meet its present needs; furnishing a means of public worship, expressing common experiences and emotions and teaching spiritual truth. Its highest, purpose, as expressed by the Title, is to inspire and cultivate the Life of Him to whose service this book is dedicated.

"Rhythm without reason tends to confusion." In the selection of the music the aim has been to secure strong melodies with good harmony and interesting rhythm. The best has been sought for and the available chosen. Words of high order with respect to form and diction and full of originality of expression were accepted only as they presented and supported the doctrines of evangelical Christianity and added materially to the departments of the book.

The songs in this book have been especially chosen for use in Sunday Schools, Young People's Meetings, Missions and Evangelistic Services. "Life Songs" may be used to advantage in connection with the Church and Sunday School Hymnal and Supplement, but is not intended to take their place in church worship and service.

A fine spirit of Christian co-operation has been extended to us by the various publishers of the country and for that reason it was made possible to combine in this collection the many choice copyrights which appear.

We wish, hereby, to acknowledge the valued assistance given by many congregations and individuals who have contributed to the work by encouraging words, donating songs or by actual labor; also, the valuable assistance given by the Mennonite General Conference and the Mennonite Publishing House. We gratefully mention the following who have given special favors in collecting the songs herein contained:—Mr. Chas. M. Alexander, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hall-Mack Company, Philadelphia, Pa.; The Rodeheaver Company, Chicago, Ill.; Tullar-Meredith Company, New York City; Hope Publishing Company, Chicago, Ill.; The Fillmore Music House, Cincinnati, O.; The Biglow and Main Company, New York City; Mr. Chas. H. Gabriel, Chicago, Ill.; and Mr. Geo. C. Stebbins, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This book is not faultless; it is not worthy of the perfect LIFE of the Master. We send it forth with the prayer that God will make it a blessing to the Church, especially to her young people, and to souls who need the LIFE which is in Christ Jesus.

And from the depths of sin and shame Thro' grace He lift - ed me.
 But when I took Him at His word, For-giv'n He lift - ed me.
 When from my guilt and grief, for-lorn, In love He lift - ed me.
 Yet how or why, I can-not tell, He should have lift - ed me.

Tempests are raging and storm-winds move, Fright'ning the soul with their strife.
 Lean on His prom-ise I sure - ly must, Knowing that He knoweth best.
 Trust in the Sav-iour makes life so sweet, That earth is heav-en to - day.

 So to the Pi - lot of souls I say, Voy-ag - ing o - ver life's sea:—
 Trust-ing the Pi - lot who holds the helm, What is there for me to fear?

And in that mo-ment my fears pass by, Stilled is the storm in a breath.

Copyright, 1916, by John D. Brunk.

*This poem was written and the music composed as a memorial to Jacob Burkhard, missionary to India. His fine spirit of self-sacrifice was shown in that, although the time for his furlough was over-due, he cheerfully bore the burden from which he should have been relieved, and in doing so succumbed to illness which under ordinary conditions would hardly have proved fatal. His tomb UNDER THE MANGO TREE was mentioned in a sermon by M. C. Lapp at Goshen College, May 31, 1908. The poem was written in January, 1909, and the music was composed in the following April.
